

Vision for a sustainable planet

The painting shows how our actions on the land and rivers are also felt in the oceans, where the river meets the sea. The painting features the sea turtle and the freshwater turtle. The oceanscape is contained within the freshwater turtle and the riverscape within the sea turtle, to show the connectedness and interdependence of everything.

We do not know whether the Nunggabarra built the first sustainable society, but we are reasonably sure they built the longest lasting society. It is now up to us to not let ours be the last